EXCAVATION WORK AT PENNSBURY IS BEING RESUMED

Archaeological Work in Bucks County, Near Here, Now Being Pushed Forward

LEARN MANY DETAILS

Each Article Thought To Be of Value is Carefully Tagged and Boxed

Three expert men under the direction of Dr. Donald A. Cadzow, a noted archaeologist, are continuing the unearthing of the foundation of the brick mansion, once the home of William Penn, in Falls Township, near Tullytown.

The state highway department has completed over a mile of hard surfaced road leading from the Bordenstown Road to the Pennsbury memorial site.

Dirt is piled high by workmen with shovels and picks. Foundations are being uncovered.

Brick and stone walls, flagstone cellar floors, stumps of chimneys, pieces of china and bits of furniture, the buried ruins of what was once William Penn's "great and stately" house are slowly being revealed.

When completed it will open the way for the reconstruction of Pennsbury, the manor which Penn built in the southeastern part of Falls Township, Bucks county, near Tullytown and between Bristol and Trenton on the Pennsylvania bank of the Delaware.

Every article unearthed which appears to have been connected with the original Penn plant is tagged, numbered and identified in so far as may be possible. Those treasures which will play an important part in the restoration of the house are systematically packed away in metal chests.

As the foundations of the various buildings which made up the estate are brought to light, they are measured and drawings are made. Walls are followed to their limits, and the style of the bricklaying and the type of bricks used are studied for future reference.

Principal discoveries, so far, are the brew and malt house and the great garden. Some of the foundation floor of the brew house has been uncovered, and it is possible now to figure, to a certain extent, the layout of the building's interior.

A wing of the manor house has been dug out. Digging of the remainder must await removal of the present farm house built in 1837 on the ruins of the old mansion.

Much is known concerning the appearance of the manor, Penn wrote minute instructions from England about his plans for the house, and many of these are preserved. Penn wrote in 1684, for example:

"I would have a kitchen, two larders, a wash-house, a room to iron, a hen house, and a millan oven for baking; a stable for twelve horses; all my rooms I would have nine feet high and my stables eleven feet, and overhead half a story. What you can do, do with bricks. What you can't, do it with good timbers, and close them with clap-boards, about five feet, which will serve other things, and we can brick afterwards."

The excavations have already disclosed the long brick wall of the garden. In it is an opening for the entrance of a wide series of steps, and other openings where posts were set, evidently for a fence which protected the garden.

Albert Cook Myers, a member of the Pennsylvania Historical Commission, of which he is secretary, and the authority on William Penn, has records of this garden, including the variety of plants used and the general layout. Mr. Myers is in charge of the historical aspects of the reconstruction of Pennsbury.

Other members of the Commission's Pennsbury Committee are Charles Henry Moon, Woodbourne, and Dr. James N. Rule, State Superintendent of Public Instruction and chairman of the Historical Commission. Mr. Moon, who is a descendant of John Sotcher, steward of the household from 1699, is the chairman.

State and National funds have been used in furthering the work. A CWA grant of $6,000 was used to level and clear the grounds and for some of the excavation. Other public funds have been spent in making good roads from Tullytown.

The Historical Committee of the Philadelphia Chapter of the American Institute of Architects and other consultative architects have been called in to advise on the ultimate reconstruction.

Penn resided at Pennsbury from 1682 to 1684 and again from 1699 to 1701. It was a meeting place for the Friends of the district and was the scene of meetings between Penn and the Indians.

MORRISVILLE COUNCIL CONSIDERS WATER SUPPLY

Two Plans are Submitted and Discussed at Council Meeting

STOP FIRE PROTECTION

MORRISVILLE, Aug. 10.—At a meeting of Common Council here last night, consideration was given to the question of improving the borough water supply.

Two propositions were submitted, one for the installation of an artesian well system, submitted by Warner Lewis of the Layne, New York Company, of Camden, and the other proposition for remodeling and improving the present filtration plant, being submitted by W. DeWitt Vosbury, consulting engineer for the borough.

Lewis submitted three propositions:

1. Construction of one well, at a cost of $9800, this to act as an auxiliary for the system now in use.

2. Two wells to act as auxiliaries, at a cost of $11,500. Both wells to be located at the southern end of the borough and to pump into the water mains in that section. With these two wells, the present filtration system would not have to be forced as it is now.

3. An entire new artesian well system, costing $35,000, to pump 1,000,000 gallons per day. This would also include two wells at the southern end of the borough, with 12-inch mains from there to a point near the new water stand-pipe, where water would be pumped into the distribution system. The cost of the 12-inch main would be 50 per cent of the job. The small water mains at the southern end of the borough make it necessary to lay the 12-inch pipe.

Vosbury's plan calls for remodeling the filtration system at a cost of $55,000. The settling basins at the present time are too small and cause filter beds to work improperly. And the pumps at the present time are unable to fill the stand pipes. These are the two outstanding defects; there are other minor defects in the present plant which will be eliminated with this second plan.

There will be a new building constructed which will be much larger than the present one and of much better appearance.

Council also voted last night to discontinue fire protection to Falls Township at midnight last night. The Township Supervisors failed to comply with the borough's request that they pay $500 for the balance of this year and $1,000 for each year thereafter. The supervisors failed to put in an appearance at last night's council session.

This action of discontinuing fire protection had been postponed since August 1st to allow further agreement between council and the supervisors. Fire protection has already been discontinued in Lower Makefield Township when that Township failed to pay $400 per year which was asked of them by Council.

Frank Hibbs, Union street, was appointed to fill the vacancy from the first ward in Council due to the resignation of former councilman Richard L. Allen. Hibbs was sworn in by Mayor Thomas B. Stockham.

An ordinance was passed on its title giving permission to the State Highway Department to widen the Lincoln Highway from the State Police barracks to the borough line in West Morrisville.

Borough Engineer Harry H. Lee, Jr., presented resolutions providing for three projects which are being set up for presentation to the State Emergency Relief Board. The first is the water project and calls for laying of water mains in Chester Manor and Cleveland avenue; the second, project calls for street improvement through-

THE OPINION OF JUDGE PATTANGALL

William R. Pattangall, chief justice of the Supreme Judicial Court of Maine, long active and important in the Democratic politics of his State, and who has been a member of the Legislature, chairman of the Democratic State Committee, and twice a delegate to Democratic National Conventions (each time being a member of the Resolutions committee), delivered an address on May 30, which was very timely and which dealt with conditions as they exist today.

Judge Pattangall said:

"The American people have grown so accustomed to the enjoyment of civil . . . liberty, so used to living their own lives in their own way, to being protected in their property rights, to looking upon government and law as a protective force rather than as an imposition of the will of others on them, that just as men forget the value of the air they breathe, the water they drink, so have they ceased to regard the great privileges of American citizenship in their true light . . . The danger of today is not the loss of liberty by use of force. Rather it lies in a supine surrender of the rights of freedom to a seductive program of paternalism, gradually changing the form of our government from a representative republic to a bureaucratic State, mildly despotic in action, dangerously experimental, in which human rights and property rights cease to rest upon the firm foundation of established law and come to depend upon the whim of the temporary majority."

Then Justice Pattangall, himself elevated in the country's judicial hierarchy, turns to the courts—in a passage which reads like a solemn admonition to the Supreme Court of the United States. None of the New Deal measures has yet come before the high court at Washington; all will arrive there during the session that begins next October. One feels that as the justices at Washington bend to their task they might, as part of an act of self-dedication, read some portions of Justice Pattangall's address:

"When the judiciary strive to find reason for upholding laws enacted at the behest of noisy minorities; when the plain and simple language of Federal and State Constitutions is given new and strange meaning in order to meet assumed existing emergencies; when the sovereignty of the individual States is disregarded; when men are denied the right to buy and sell the products of their labor in the open market place, fixing the prices of the goods in which they deal by bargain with their fellows; when the farmer is forbidden to sow and reap on the land he owns according to his own best judgment; when every detail of the daily business life of the citizen is ordered by officials, not of his choosing; when written agreements cease to have a binding force, even upon government itself—the Nation which the Civil War was fought to preserve will have ceased to be. Our Nation and our State were organized for one great purpose, to secure to the citizens thereof the blessings of liberty . . . All that they (Washington and Lincoln) lived and died for becomes a sad and futile waste if we of this generation are to surrender the heritage they bequeathed us because we lack the courage, the independence, the manliness, to work out our individual salvation, but prefer to become paupers to the State, depending upon its bounty to supply our needs . . . The great mass of the people of this Nation are sane. Should they not assert their sanity? Should they not make one more stand for individual freedom and a preservation of the form of Government they inherited?"

HERE AND THERE IN BUCKS COUNTY TOWNS

Red Cross Nurse in Middle Bucks County Made 211 Visits

OTHER COUNTY NEWS

During July, Miss Maud L. Wagner, Red Cross Rural School Nurse for Middle Bucks county, made 211 visits and covered 1384 miles.

The last pre-school clinic was held at Chalfont. Dr. Burkhardt was in charge, with an attendance of 20 children; 9 of this group were given the Toxin treatment for the prevention against diphtheria. Others assisting with the clinic were the New Britain Borough and the New Britain Township Parent-Teachers Associations; Miss Elizabeth Ross, chairman of the Red Cross, and Miss Mary Hellyer, of Doylestown.

During the month, 5 children had tonsils and adenoids removed.

Miss Wagner's activities were listed as follows: health supervision; infant visits, 2; pre-school, 47; school, 103 and adult, 3; visits and interviews in behalf of nursing service, 54; and in behalf of general activities, 2; and attended one meeting.

Charged with profanity, Frank Szabo, 49, near Ivyland, was fined sixty-seven cents for each oath uttered. Tallying the number of oaths, which are alleged to have been hurled, the Justice counted ten, and under the Act of Assembly of 1794 the man was liable for a sixty-seven cent fine for each one. Besides paying a fine of $6.70 for his word orgy, he was fined $10 for disorderly conduct and gave bail to appear in Court to answer the charge of surety of the peace. Max Englehart, Ivyland resident, pressed the charges.

A survey has been started in Telford and West Telford, looking toward the installation in the near future of a modern sewage system in the twin North Penn Valley towns.

A vicious bull broke loose on the farm of Ludwig Gandorfer, Hilltown, Wednesday night and ran wild for almost sixteen hours before being shot.

AUSTRIA EXPECTS NEW REBELLION SHORTLY

Prince Von Starhemberg So Informs International News Service Today

WANT HAPSBURGS BACK

By Alfred Tyrnauer (I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

VIENNA, Aug. 11.—(INS)—The Austrian government expects a new Nazi rebellion in a short time, Prince Rudiger Von Starhemberg informed International News Service in an exclusive interview today, adding that the great majority of the Austrian people were for the restoration of the Hapsburgs but that restoration was not an immediate question because of international difficulties.

Prince Starhemberg started for Italy by plane explaining that he was going there to visit the Austrian Heimwehr youths who are now in Italy on the invitation of the Italian government.

It is understood that he was urgently invited to see Mussolini probably at Rignano to discuss the Austrian internal situation, first the reorganization of the Heimwehr, and second Hapsburg restoration.

"I expect a new Nazi putsch within a few months," Starhemberg said. "From information I have I am absolutely convinced that the Nazis are preparing a new putsch and I distrust the peace talk of the Nazi German Government."

"I also have reason to doubt reports of the dissolution of the Austrian Nazi Legion in Germany. The Reich is continuing to finance the Nazis in Austria and a new anti-Austrian propaganda campaign in Germany. "But the Austrian government is prepared to suppress resolutely all attempts of the Nazis."

"Regarding Hapsburg restoration, I am able to state that an overwhelming majority of the population is for restoration, but this is not merely an internal problem. It depends rather on the European situation."

"The Vatican is for restoration and I think Italy and England are neutral. I believe only France and the Little Entente would oppose it. We are un-

YARDLEY COUNCIL REFUSES $500 TO ITS FIREMEN

Finance Committee Reports Budget is Made Up For The Year

OTHER YARDLEY NOTES

YARDLEY, Aug. 11.—A meeting of Borough Council, the finance committee, Robert Barbour, chairman, reported the committee had met with the committee representing Yardley Fire Company No. 1 and Engine Company No. 2.

At this special meeting the members of the No. 2 company withdrew their request for a one mill fire tax, and substituted a request for a donation of $500 for the repair of their engine which has been out of order since February, 1934.

After considerable discussion the finance committee reported that since their budget had been compiled for this present year, it would not be advisable to grant such a request at this time. A resolution approving the report of the finance committee, was then filed.

Considerable time was spent on the discussion of the foreign fire insurance tax, which is paid by the borough for the two fire companies here.

Mrs. Frank Robinson, of the River Road, was hostess to the members of the Yardley W. C. T. U. at their August meeting on Tuesday afternoon. The meeting was opened by Mrs. Lucy A. Harper, who presided in the absence of Mrs. William C. Beener. Mrs. Harvey J. Funk acted as secretary in the absence of Mrs. Linford T. Hampton. The meeting was opened by singing "Lead On, O King Eternal" followed by devotionals conducted by Mrs. Oliver Wharton, evangelistic director. The treasurer, Mrs. Walter H. Thompson, reported $24.25 in the treasury.

An invitation from the Richboro local to their meeting on August 28 was read and plans were made to attend. Mrs. Thompson, read the article, "Is the Light Line Union Growing in Favor?"

Mrs. Harper gave an account of the Inter-State Conference held in Ocean Grove, N. J., and a resume of the World Convention held in Stockholm, Sweden. Mrs. Edith Billbe conducted the Union Signal quiz.

A motion was made and carried that the Yardley W. C. T. U. secure a petition for local option in the borough.

A playlet, "Thinks and Drinks" was given by Mrs. Edith Billbe, Mrs. Edna Funk, Miss Anna Wright, and Miss Gladys A. Harper.

The September meeting will be held on September 4, at the home of Mrs. Edwin S. Wright. The meeting closed with refreshments.

Fourth Ward Card Party Boosts Fund For Cadets

A. O. H. Hall, Corson street, was the scene of a large card party last evening, benefitting the American Legion cadets of the Fourth Ward.

Twenty-four tables of "500" and pinocle enthusiasts and 25 non players comprised the gathering.

An unusual variety of more than a hundred prizes excited the interest of the players and cake and soda water were on sale.

"500" highest scorers were: Mrs. P. McGonigle, 3060; Mary Dugan, 3060; Mrs. M. Boltz, 2610; M. Gallagher, 2270; Mrs. Joseph Duffy, 1870.

Pinocle highest winners were: John Cafferty, 818; A. Linder, 801; Mrs. Simons, 783; Mrs. Edna Burbank, 774; P. Quigley, 760.

The Fourth Ward ladies in charge of the highly successful affair were: Mrs. Maud Gallagher, Mrs. Hugh McElroy, Mrs. George Heath, Mrs. William Ennis and Mrs. John McCafferty.

ORDERS NAZIS' ARREST

(Copyright 1934 by I. N. S.)

Berlin, Aug. 11.—Moving quickly to rehabilitate Austro-German relations, and to restore peace of central Europe, Reichsleiter Adolf Hitler this afternoon ordered the arrest of prominent Austrian Nazis in Germany involved in the July 25th "Putsch" which resulted in the assassination of Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss. Sixty-nine Austrian Nazis who had sought refuge on German soil were arrested by Hitler's express order.

Among the important persons taken into custody were Alfred Fraunfeld, deposed leader of the Austrian Nazis and the Nazi chieftain, Hafer of Tyrol, Kachen, of Carinthia Province, and Dr. Wachger, alleged "brains" of the Nazi "Putsch" in Austria and a man already sought by Austria police in the same connection.

STATE TROOPER SHOT

Easton, Aug. 11.—Shot through the head in a pistol battle in which he and another state trooper killed a Northampton county hoodlum, state policeman Benjamin Lichty, 27, attached to the Nazareth barracks, today lay in a critical condition in the Easton Hospital. The dead man was Amandus Kessler, 41. He was shot while resisting the attempt of Lichty and Trooper Marshall Wilhelm, 28, to arrest him on complaint of the father of a 15 year old girl who spurned his attentions. After Kessler had fired five shots both the state troopers returned the fire. All their shots took effect and Kessler fell under the barrage. He died instantly. Kessler, police said, had threatened to kill Edith Romig, daughter of William Romig, at Rosley Town, near Windgap, because she spurned his love.

GOVERNOR IS 69

Harrisburg, Aug. 11.—Apparently hale and hearty from a summer of outdoor activity, liberally sprinkled with official duties, Governor Pinchot quietly celebrated his 69th birthday at Milford estate today. No special plans for observing the day at "Gray Towers" have been made, but it is expected the Governor will take a fling at fishing in Pike County streams. Mrs. Pinchot was at Milford with the Governor.

ASHBY AGAIN TWIRLS NO-HIT-NO-RUN GAME

Pitcher for Edgely Braves Chalks Up Victory By Shut-Out Route

GAME ENDS AT 1 TO 0

(By T. M. Juno)

For the second consecutive game, Turner Ashby, of the Edgely Braves, carved a notch in the Bristol Twilight League mythical hall of fame. Last night on the Leedom's field he twirled another no-run, no-hit game against the Jefferson A. C. and enabled the Braves to chalk up their nineteenth straight Twilight League victory.

Last week, Ashby set down the Hi-bernals without a run or hit and previous to that game had set down the Hi-bis with one hit and that was made by F. Dougherty in the last inning of a game, June 26. Totalling up Ashby's average, he is unscored upon in the Twilight League and has pitched a total of seventeen scoreless innings and during this stretch allowed one hit.

In handing the Jefferson team a coat of white-washing, Ashby fanned batters, an average of two per inning. Only three Mules reached base, two on passes and one on an error by Kimble. DiTanna reached as far as second base by stealing after walking in the second but that was as far as he got. Purcell also got on via a pass but did attempting to make second on a short pass ball.

By virtue of their victory, the Braves clinched the second half and as they were also the first half champions, there will be no play-off series. It was the first time in the history of the Bristol Twilight League that a team went through both halves without a defeat.

Ashby had to be good to win last night's fray as "Camel" Breslin was also in superb form. Camel had trouble getting started but from the first inning on matched Ashby's hurling. He did not permit a hit after the first inning and no batter got further than first base after the second.

The Edgelyites got to the Mules' twirler before he could get started when Dougherty opened the fray with

FILE TWO SUITS TO RECOVER DAMAGES FOR ACCIDENTS

New York City School Teacher Hopes To Recover $25,000

ANOTHER WANTS $4452

Divorce Libels Are Also Filed With The County Court

Two damage suits and two libels in divorce were filed in the Court of Common Pleas, at Doylestown.

Claiming $25,000, Marguerite M. Frank, a New York City school teacher, has filed an action in trespass in the Prothonotary's office, naming Bert L. Edwards, 5606 North 7th street, Philadelphia, the defendant.

According to the statement of claim, the plaintiff, a resident of Gilbertsville, Montgomery county, was the guest of Joseph Leroy Miller, of Parkersford, in a car on the Lahaska pike, where it figured it is alleged in an accident with a car driven by the defendant. The accident, it is alleged, took place about one quarter mile east of Lahaska in Solebury township, March 4, 1934.

For doctors' bill and hospitalization the plaintiff claims the sum of $300. Loss of wages totaled $300, and for the "loss of the plaintiff's wages in the future, including doctor's bills which may be incurred to have the plaintiff's former good health restored," a claim of $24,000 is made.

In a damage suit, in which both the plaintiff and defendant are residents of Quakertown, Blanche M. Miller, who claims for personal injuries to herself; Frank N. Miller, who claims as husband of Blanche M. Miller, and Frank N. Miller, who claims for damages to property owned by him, Cecilia Singmaster has been named the defendant in the suit, seeking to recover the sum of $4452.

In the statement of claim filed by the plaintiff, Blanche M. Miller alleges that on September 10, 1933, Frank Miller was operating a car on the Doylestown-Quakertown highway when an accident took place near the Ridge road intersection. Mrs. Miller, a passenger in the car, was injured. For her injuries she claims the sum of $4000.

Frank Miller seeks to recover the sum of $400 which he alleges are expenses in connection with his wife's injuries.

For damages to his car he claims $52.

Charging her husband, Harry L. Clark, of Reading avenue, Yardley, with cruel and barbarous treatment, Mary A. Clark has filed a libel in divorce in the Court of Common Pleas.

The libellant, who gave as her address 27 East Maple avenue, Morrisville, alleges that they were married at Lahaska, September 1, 1920.

Isaac Gilton Francis has filed a libel in divorce charging his wife, Mary M. Francis with cruel and barbarous treatment. Both the respondent and libellant are residents of Yardley.

ROBBERY AT MORRISVILLE

MORRISVILLE, Aug. 11.—Chief of Police Albert Coop is investigating a robbery which took place at the garage of B. C. Fox on Deiter avenue. Tools were stolen and according to police some of them were later found in the yard of a Bowling Green avenue home. It is believed boys were responsible for the robbery.

CHAPTER IV

Caroline sat in a heap on the sofa, too miserable and bewildered to go back to her mother and father, fighting off tears, thinking confusedly of what lay ahead of her.

Perhaps he would come back to her! Almost instantly she despised herself for the thought, but it persisted, bringing her a ray of comfort.

And what if he wasn't all that she had imagined him? Just because she held exaggerated ideas of loyalty and love was no reason why Howard couldn't think more sanely of life.

It was no use—deep in her heart she knew that Howard had failed her. The thing to do was to keep up her scorn for him and wipe out her love as soon as she could.

Her mother came into the room, saying in a strained, unnatural voice: “Caroline, are you here?”

Caroline sat up with a jerk, dabbed surreptitiously at her eyes with a wet handkerchief and smiled. “How is Father?” she asked.

“He's gone upstairs to dress. Do you know what time it is?”

“Dress?” Caroline repeated vaguely.

“Of course. We are still people, aren't we?” Alva's usually soft voice was raspy. “Will you get into something for dinner? You're a crumpled mess.”

Caroline laughed. The laugh broke. “I suppose life will go on,” she said and got to her feet.

Caroline thought, too, that it would be somehow indelicate to talk to the beautiful creature before her of money troubles.

Alva did not seem to care for the taxes, feeling it as a recognition of a condition she did not wish to acknowledge.

Annual Harvest Home supper on Tullytown M. E. Church lawn, August 28—

By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD, . . . —One of the new fast planes carried Bruce Cabot east to spend a few days with Adrienne Ames in New York, to help her celebrate her birthday.

Separation for this married pair (Adrienne went east to play in the picture “Gaiety”) made the heart grow fonder. Bruce has been mooning around the late spots alone and looking glum. When he comes back, he intends to visit the northern camp, where Adrienne's little daughter, Barbara, is spending the summer.

Did you hear the story of Hollywood's screwiest burglar? A year and a half ago, Ed Martin, M. G. M. director, returned from the theater and found his house looted. The eccentric thief had taken Ed's watch out left the chain. Along with other strange articles like an autograph album, he cleaned out the house of one brand of cigars but scorned all others.

Ed reported the theft to the police and that was the last he heard of the incident until several days ago when detectives asked him to come down and try to identify some jewelry. He found his watch and had a talk with the burglar who had been wearing it when he was arrested. The pay-off came when Ed started to leave.

Very funny, the comedy of errors that sent Fern Andie speeding to the Southern Pacific station in search of a trunk. The actress was asking to go to Santa Barbara for the out-of-town opening of Ian Keith's play, “Mary of Scotland.” She intended to go on from there to visit her mother, who is very ill in the east, so she put two valuable coats and all her jewelry in a German trunk with an old-fashioned lock that doesn't snap shut. An errand called her down the street and when she returned, 30 minutes later, the baggage man had carried away the unlocked trunk. It was then 5:30. The actress dashed downtown in a taxi and for the next two hours and a half was trying to locate her baggage. They finally found it in Wonder if Dolores Del Rio is trying to start an argument. If Pola Negri reads this, she'll probably get one, anyway.

The Mexican star says of her new picture, “Du Barry”:

“My conception of Mme. Du Barry differs radically from that of Pola Negri, in the old silent film, ‘Passion.’ Instead of showing the famous ruler of kings as a sordid strumpet, I present her—and history bears me out—as a tempestuous and delightful child, an intriguing mixture of courtesan and grand lady.”

What famous star, now in Europe, has the gossip dying with curiosity to know why he is having his Southern California ranch home prepared for early occupancy?

KNICK-KNACKS— The wedding party of Gloria Stuart and Arthur Sheekman very nearly had a tragic accident on the way to Agassiz Caliente. BABES in the WOODS

WE NEVER grow so old that we do not recall our childhood concern as we thought of what might have happened to the two story-book children who wandered aimlessly into the forest and became lost.

We never grow so wise that we can walk blindly into the marts of trade and straightway find the shoes, car, ham, cleaner, rug, antiseptic or what-not that best fits our individual need, fancy or pocketbook.

Without a dependable buying guide we are all Babes in the Woods . . . lost when it comes to judging qualities, values or styles. “Know the reputation of the store,” is one rule. “Know the reputation of the product and its manufacturer,” is another. The two together make wise selection doubly certain.

You can form a very reliable estimate of the stores which advertise consistently. So also of manufacturers

Only sound merchandise, attractively priced, can continue to repay the retailer or the manufacturer for his advertising outlay. If he can risk the money it costs him to tell you about his goods, you can be reasonably sure that your path through the woods will lead to the best values for your buying dollars.

LARGE VARIETY OF Eatables AVAILABLE IN THE HOME GARDEN

By Rhondena A. Armstrong

(Home Economics Representative)

Eating two vegetables besides potatoes every day is no problem now with such a variety of vegetables available in the home garden, according to Miss Armstrong, Home Economics Extension Representative. Lettuce, peas, spinach, onions, Swiss chard, beet tops, string beans, beets, carrots and cabbage answer to the housewife's roll call.

What a variety to choose from and what a variety of ways of preparing them! Creamed, scalloped, buttered, in soup and salad are all attractive ways of serving them to the family. Pea soup or scalloped young cabbage with a little cheese added or baked spinach with eggs make good one-dish meals.

A salad combination of lettuce, spinach, and a little onion is delicious, and a salad made from young green cabbage and tender orange carrots is not only good to taste but looks good and is good.

Raw vegetables have vitamins A, B, C, and G for health and well-being, iron for building blood, and lime and phosphorus for building bones and teeth. Cooked ones can have those, too, if only a little water is used in boiling and the vegetables are taken off the stove when tender.

SURVEY SHOWS MOST WOMEN FAIL IN DRESS

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—(INS)—The majority of women in this country do not know how to dress becomingly, Prof. Belle Northrup, Professor of Fine Arts at Columbia University, declared in a survey made public here.

According to Prof. Northrup, the day of the "ugly Duckling" is past. Women need not be unattractive any longer, she averred, if they but realized the enhancing effects of correctly chosen clothes. Fashion often-times make women ugly, she said, adding that women should be treated as individuals, not mannequins.

Instead of emphasizing the figure, the head and face especially should be studied in determining the type of dress a woman is to wear, the survey points out. Personality and temperament are the most important considerations in selecting the clothes, and these are the characteristics that most women completely ignore.

Prof. Northrup has evolved a new theory of dress, which she calls the "Yin-Yang" theory. Taken from the Chinese art and philosophy "Yin" stands for delicacy, softness, sweetness, gentleness; "Yang" symbolizes the qualities of strength, power, vigor, forcefulness. Before purchasing a dress, a woman should know where within these two groups she belongs, and then secure a garment that fits her classification.

If a woman is of the "yin" type, she can wear clothes of soft color, easy treatment of fabric, fluffy ruffles, curved lines and delicate trimmings explains Prof. Northrup. On the other hand, if she belongs to the "yang" division, she should wear a dress denoting strength, a dress having solid lines, striking or dark colors and heavy textures.

"Dress according to your personality and temperament," Prof. Northrup advises. "The old theory that a girl should wear clothes to suit only her figure is fallacious. Personality is far more important than figure."

"The way a girl smiles and walks and talks should help decide the way she should dress. Individualism in clothes is essential for any well-dressed person. Men no longer desire the pretty-pretty type, but want individualistic women. Clothes can make them so.

"A woman should know what ruffles will do to her appearance, whether chiffon will enhance her loveliness, or if shiny black satin suits her temperament. Dress can reflect sleekness, perkiness, poise or happiness. Most women do not know this, because the average woman does not know the principle of becoming dress."

Women should learn to see themselves as a unit, and not in detail, Prof. Northrup emphasized. They should know whether their bodily movements are "graceful, active or reserved and calm." Temperament has been left out of the picture in the past, the dress expert said. Two women of the same size, coloring and build may need entirely different clothes if one is vivacious and the other solemn. This point is very rarely taken into consideration by women, the survey declares.

As "yin" types, Prof. Northrup cites such screen and stage actresses as Mary Pickford, Lillian Gish, Helen Chandler, Miriam Hopkins, Janet Gaynor and Billie Burke. On the "yang" side are listed Greta Garbo, Aila Nazimova, Katherine Cornell, Jane Cowl, Joan Crawford, Helen Wills and Ethel Barrymore. Anne Harding, Eva La Gallienne and Joan Bennett are "in-betweens" or a combination of yin and yang, the educator observes.

STATE NEWS

NEW CASTLE — (INS) — A crane entered the domain of men here and was arrested by Patrolman Les Harper for breaking and entering a bakery shop.

Patrolman Harper escorted the bird to the station house after a short battle. Plunged into a cell the bird languished unnoticed. A drunk later was put into the same cell. The man looked and shouted he was seeing things. In fact, he was feeling things as the crane began to attack him.

The police extricated him from the cell and called the game warden who apparently uttered a few words of bird language and pacified the crane without a struggle. Later he took the bird to the country and liberated it.

JOHNSTOWN — (INS) — Mayor

Eddie McCloskey's life is one man-damus proceeding after another.

Affairs have reached such a state that "Eddie" just doesn't care any more.

"Let them get a mandamus," he said. "I don't care if they do."

He referred to the suit threatened because he refused to sign an ordinance requiring the city to refund $194,000 in bonds.

"Eddie" hasn't got around yet to payment of the $13.30 costs remaining from the last suit against him to force signing of councilmanic ordinances and resolutions.

CHARLEROI — (INS) — Another "whatisit" has bobbed up in this district.

Called to investigate the killing of a pet cat owned by a Fayette City woman, Uniontown and Mercer County state department officers expressed the belief it was a wild mountain lion which raided chicken coops, killed livestock, other animals and fowls. The cat was torn to pieces by the beast.

The "whatisit" was described as short-eared, short tail, brown with black spots, and weighing about 35 pounds.

BOOK GAMES HERE FOR THE WEEK-END

With the Sunday jinx still trailing them, the Hibernians will meet another Jersey club tomorrow afternoon on Leedom's field when the nine stacks up against the Trenton All-Stars.

The Hibs have not been so fortunate in their Sabbath contests and have won very few matches. However, they believe their luck will change with tomorrow's contest and a victory will be chalked up.

"Jackie" Devlin who belongs to the Hulmeville A. A. mound corps will be on the hill for the Big Green with Hemp behind the plate. An effort is being made to have Leon Conly, Hulmeville third-baseman, to play that position in tomorrow's contest.

Forrest Hill will pay their third visit to Bristol tomorrow when the Philadelphia club plays a return engagement with the Edgely Braves on the Edgely diamond.

The Hillers scored a 4-3 victory over the Twilight League champions several weeks ago and are out to repeat. The Hibs trounced the invaders on Leedom's field two weeks ago.

Gene Lawler or Mel Wright will be on the hill for the Braves with Dougherty doing the receiving. The remainder of the line-up will be intact.

Game is scheduled to begin at three o'clock.

HULA SKIRTED NINE TO PLAY AT EMILIE

EMILIE, Aug. 11—The biggest baseball crowd of the season is anticipated when the local club meets the famous hula skirted juggaleers on the local lot. The game starts at 3 p. m.

Manager Bill Bolton of the All-Emilie team, plans to use his best twirler in an effort to stop the winning of the jungle stars who come to the local park, tom-toms and all with a fine record, including wins over some of the best clubs in these parts. The only hula skirted baseball club in the world! This club is the sensation of the 1934 season! Their combined comedy and baseball skill will send everyone home satisfied that the local management is still doing their utmost to give local fandom the best available sandlot attractions. However, to give you the best, they need your support. Come out and root for them.

The Jungle Giants appear on the field in native African jungle garb, including grass hula skirt and full tribal regalia. This is without a bit of doubt the greatest colored comedy attraction to ever step on an American baseball diamond.

Tullytown Fire Company baseball team tomorrow will play the Pennington A. C., of Pennington, N. J., at Tullytown.

TO OPEN CLUB HOUSE

The new St. Ann's A. A. club house on Wood street will be open to the public tomorrow night after nine o'clock. The "Saints" have recently moved into their new quarters and have converted what appeared to be an eyesore building to a modern clubhouse. The work on the building was done by the members themselves and in addition to remodeling the building they have built a bocce alley where the Italian pastime is played. It is hoped that a large crowd will inspect the place during the night and the committee in charge has arranged for entertainment as well as dancing with a local orchestra.

ENFORCEMENT OFFICERS ARE NOT "DOG CATCHERS"

HARRISBURG, Aug. 11—The State dog law enforcement agents, located in districts throughout the Commonwealth, are not "dog catchers" as commonly referred to, officials of the bureau of animal industry, Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, explain.

It is pointed out that they do not actually catch dogs because it is not a part of their duty. The persons specifically authorized by the dog law to catch dogs are the local police officials. The dog law enforcement agents check on the licensing of dogs and prosecute those who violate the law; they make appraisals of damages done by dogs and locate where possible the dogs doing the damage; they patrol day and night where continued losses indicate a "killer" at large; they ferret out persons responsible for either killing, injuring, stealing or poisoning dogs. In other words, are described as having the two-fold task of protecting persons, livestock and poultry from the irresponsible dog, and of protecting the well-earned for, licensed and controlled dogs from irresponsible persons.

A well-qualified dog law enforcement agent is, therefore, spoken of as one who has a knowledge of the different breeds of livestock and poultry, and their value; who can be firm and tactful in making decisions on appraisals, who is interested in dogs, and who is a skillful investigator, not afraid of long and hard hours.

The results of twelve years' work in the enforcement of the dog law by the State indicates that these agents are performing an important protective work that has actually saved and revived the sheep industry in Pennsylvania; they are protecting the other livestock and poultry industries; they are controlling rabies; they are reducing the number of dogs maliciously poisoned; they are reducing the number of dogs being stolen, and they have brought about a better understanding on the part of the dog owner so that today undoubtedly the dog is more appreciated than ever before.

NEWS BRIEFS

LANCASTER — (INS) — Wheatland, the 22-acre estate of President James Buchanan, Pennsylvania's

only occupant of the White House, apparently is destined to become a national shrine.

Prompted by patriotic citizens and historians, plans have been outlined whereby the picturesque home would be converted into a memorial to the nation's lone bachelor president.

President Roosevelt, while enroute to Gettysburg last Memorial Day stopped here for seven minutes and expressed a desire to return to Lancaster and visit the famed home. The President's father, James Roosevelt, was secretary to Buchanan while the latter was ambassador to England.

Following his term as President, Buchanan retired to his estate on the outskirts of Lancaster, living a quiet life during the turbulent war days. He died in 1868.

HARRISBURG — (INS) — The Board of Game Commissioners has agreed to authorize officers to publish the names of persons convicted of game law violations.

JOHNSTOWN — (INS) — Automobile bumpers are too hard on tombstones in the Green View Cemetery so the police closed the gates at five o'clock instead of at eight as was formerly the custom.

Novice drivers discovered that the cemetery was an ideal place to practice driving. As a result frequent

Andrew Barco, 46, N. Radcliffe street, suffered an injured finger which employed at his duties in the Paterson Parchment Paper Company yesterday. An X-ray was taken this morning at the Harriman Hospital.

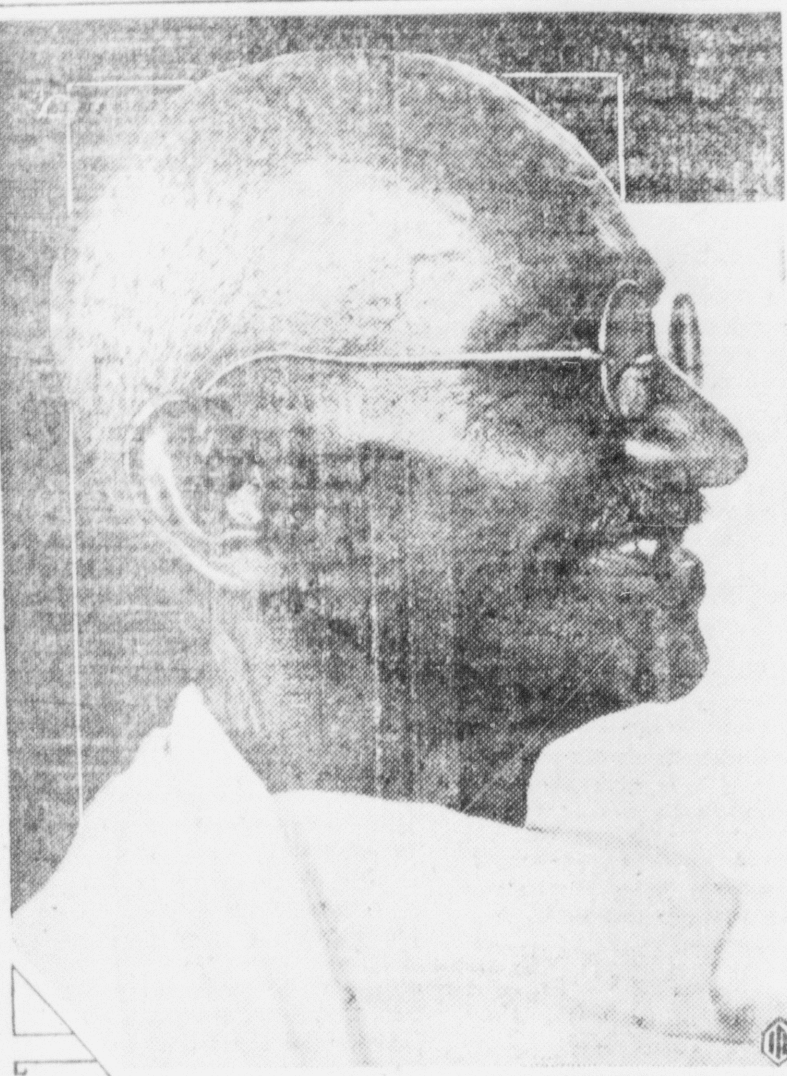

Tullytown Firemen To Hold Important Meeting

TULLYTOWN, Aug. 11—An important meeting of the Fire Company will be held in the fire house on Tuesday evening. All members are urged to attend.

At this meeting the purchase of a new fire engine will be thoroughly discussed. The committee which is composed of Wilmer Anderson, George W. Wright, Harrison Streeter, Michael J. Brennan, and John Couthineal will make its report and submit prices and details on new equipment.

The carnival committee will also make a report, and it will be learned as to what was cleared on the carnival which was held last month. Plans will also be made for fall and winter activities.

Gandhi Ignores Warning, Fasts

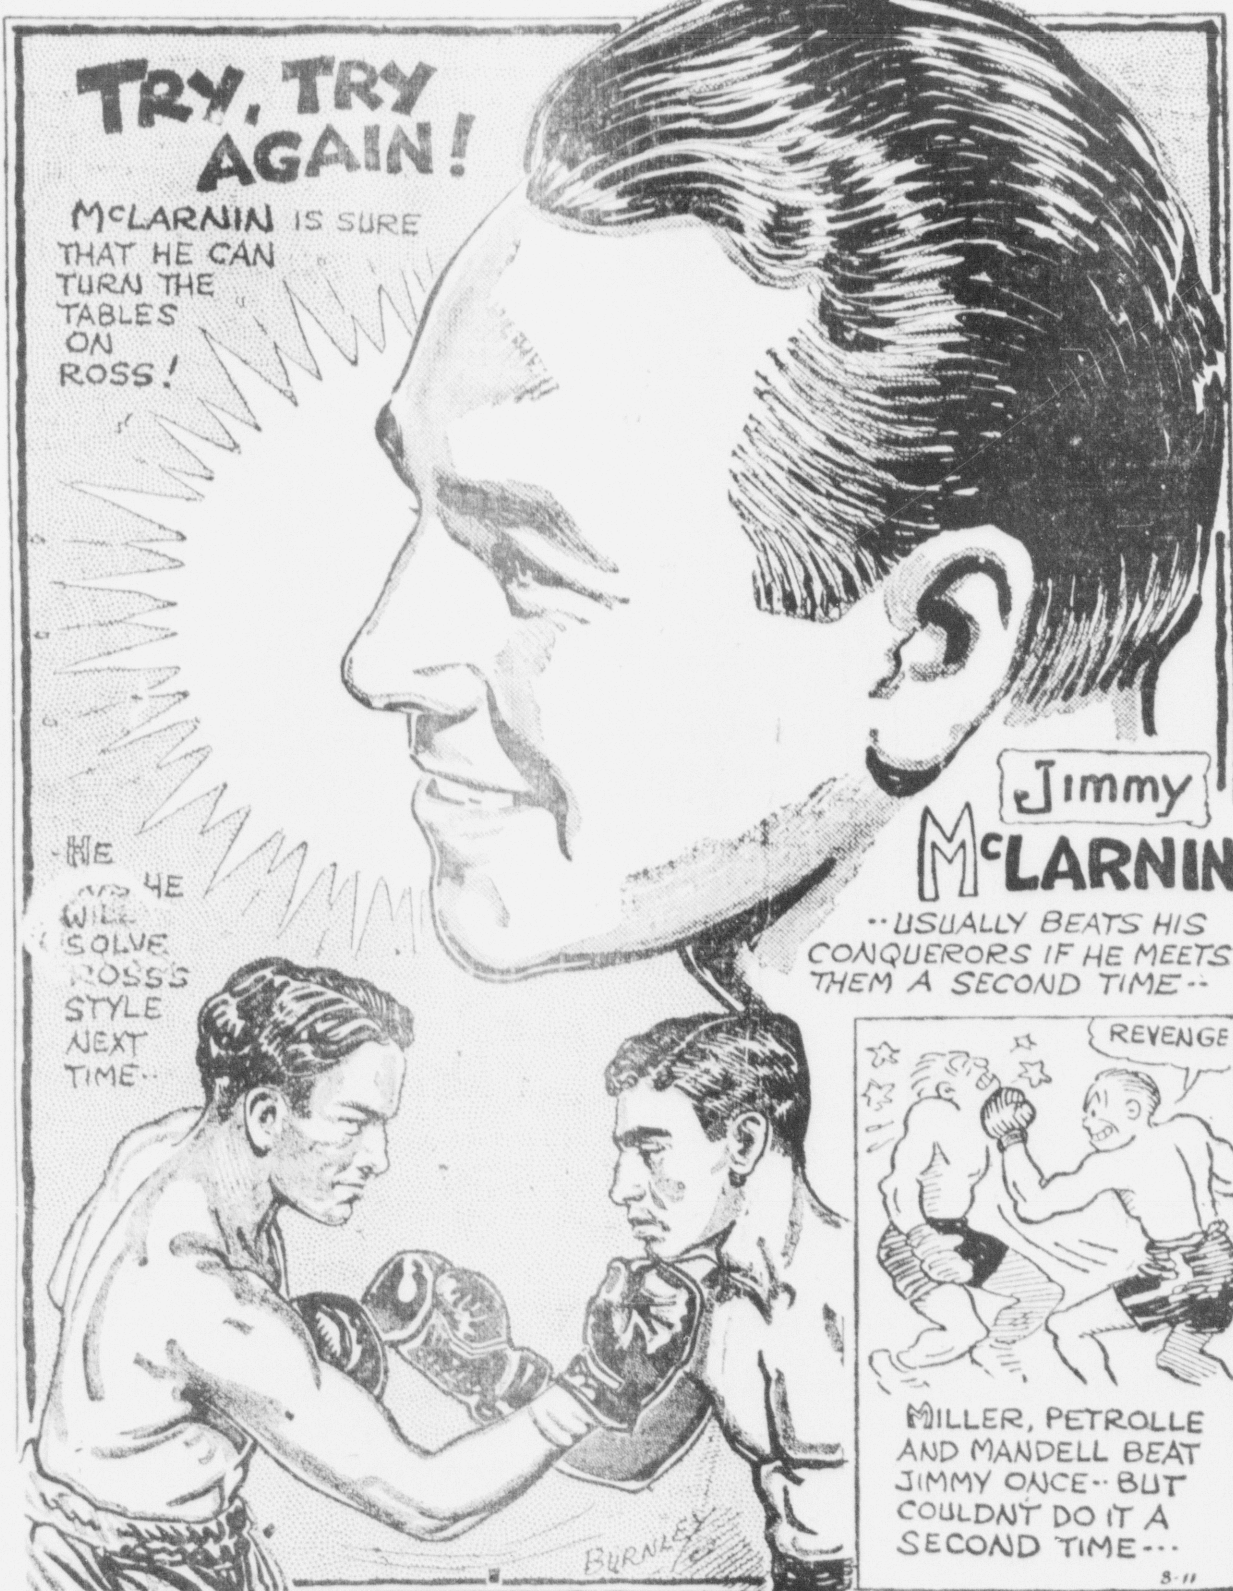

Mahatma Gandhi

Against the advice of his physicians who feared serious results because of his weak heart, Mahatma Gandhi, above, started on Aug 7 a seven-day fast. The famous Indian leader announced at Wardah, India, that this was his means of expiating injuries inflicted by his followers upon Pandit Lal Nath, orthodox Hindu leader, opponent of the campaign against untouchability.

Can He Turn the Tables?

By BURNLEY

HE had planned to visit his birthplace in Ireland this summer, but James Archibald McLarnin couldn't bear the idea of going back to the old country as an ex-champion, so he canceled the trip after losing his precious welterweight crown to Barney Ross.

But Jimmy hasn't given up the idea of visiting Ireland. Far from it! The cherubic-faced Irishman with the hammers of Thor in his gloves will get a chance to regain his old laurels this September when he clashes with Ross again in an attempt to prove that the Chicago He-brew's previous victory was more or less a fluke.

McLarnin is supremely confident that he will turn the tables on his conqueror of last May. He thinks he was robbed of the verdict in their first meeting, but predicts that next time he will win so decisively no referee can take it away from him. "My right hand will be the referee when I get Barney again," says James. "All we'll need is somebody that can count up to ten." The popular Irish puncher expresses these optimistic sentiments without a trace of boastfulness in his manner, but withal he has about him an air of quiet confidence that is very impressive.

This personable youngster (for he is still a youngster in years even though he is a grizzled veteran of ring warfare) backs up his predictions of victory with a seemingly cogent line of reasoning.

He points out that almost without exception in the past he has been able to trounce his conquerors if they consented to meet him a second time. Ray Miller stopped Jimmy, Mandell and Petrolle both gave him bad beatings; but the baby-faced devastator from the Emerald Isle got hot on all three in return encounters.

McLarnin explains this by saying that if an opponent gives him trouble in their first bout, he studies the problem and is able to solve his conqueror's style when they meet again.

Whether he can turn the tables with Barney Ross remains to be seen. It will be a very good trick if he does it.

EXPERIENCE

Let them go to distant places!
Let them sail the seven seas!
Let them trade in spices, laces,
Scimitars and filigrees.

Let them dock at far-off Aden—
We can find romance and more
On the shelves so full and laden
Of our corner grocery store!

There we'll buy black tea from China,
Fragrant cloves from Zanzibar,
Figs that come from Asia Minor,
Other products from afar.

We can get at bargain prices
Coffee out of hot Brazil,
Simple foods, exotic spices—
Anything we want, at will!

Oh, they'll go on yearly whalings—
Let them! You and I can roam,
Build our ships and make our sailings
Within half a mile of home!

Let them follow their wild notions!
Let them sight their Trinidads!
City streets will be our oceans,
And our charts will be the ads!

There's a world of adventure waiting for you — in the advertisements of this newspaper!
